

Three Great Texts Homages

Translated by Geshe Graham Woodhouse

Three Great Texts

Homages

Treatise on the Middle / Fundamental Treatise on the Middle Called 'Wisdom'

To perfect Buddha I bow down,
Supreme of teachers, he who taught
Dependent relativity–
Without cessation or arising,
Or severance or permanence,
No oneness and no separateness,
No coming and no going forth,
The end of fabrications, free.

Arya Nagarjuna

Ornament for the Clear Realizations

Who as the knower of all is she who leads
 The Hearers seeking peace to utter peace;
Who as the knower of paths makes those who work
 The good of beings achieve the world's welfare;
And well-endowed with whom the Sages teach
 On this all-aspected variety:
I bow down to the Mother of the Buddha
 And Hearer, Bodhisattva companies.

Lord Maitreya

Verse Commentary on the 'Compendium of Valid Cognition'

Dispeller of the nets of thought,
With bodies both profound and vast,
To you whose pure light shines afar
In total goodness, I bow down.
